Bill's Top 10 Song List for Hallowe'en

Hallowe'en is the time for scary songs and the following is a list of tunes that are guaranteed to scare the pants off you. Don't be afraid, be very afraid!

- #10 'Enter Sandman' by Metallica- Aside from the fact that the thought of listening to Metallica is scary, 'Enter Sandman' does have a 'shivers up the spine' factor.
- #9 'Devil with the Blue Dress/Good Golly Miss Molly' by Mitch Rider and the Detroit Wheels- I know it's not scary but it's local and it rocks.
- #8 'Running with the Devil' by Van Halen- It's more of a lifestyle song but has a great intro.
- #7 'Fire on High' by ELO- It is demonic and has an even better intro.
- #6 'Witchy Woman/Evil Woman/Black Magic Woman' by the Eagles/ELO/Santana- Pick your tribute to those bad girls.
- #5 'Highway to Hell' by AC/DC- AC/DC have a number of songs about going to the bad place. HtW rocks on the way there best.
- #4 'Werewolves of London' by Warren Zevon- Awooooo!
- #3 'Black Sabbath' by Black Sabbath- Before he was a dysfunctional parent Ozzie was a dysfunctional rocker. The first song from their first album remains their scariest.
- #2 'The Green Manalishi' by Fleetwood Mac- Anybody who thinks those drugs in the 60s weren't doing damage really needs to listen to this song: spiders in the brain.
- #1 'The Monster Mash' by Bobby 'Boris' Pickett- We've all heard it a bazillion times. The Boris Karloff impression is still a hoot 45 years later.

Are you scared?
